The Joint Committee on Legislative Organization is required by s. 13.02 (3), stats., and by Joint Rule 81 (1) to develop a proposed biennial session schedule early in each biennial session period and submit it to the legislature for approval in the form of a joint resolution. This session schedule must include at least one meeting of the legislature in January of each year to implement the requirements of s. 13.02, stats., and Joint Rule 83 (3) of annual meetings and the carry-over of measures from the regular annual session of the odd-numbered year to the regular annual session held in the even-numbered year.

Under Joint Rule 81 (2), by majority action of the 2 houses or of the organization committees of the 2 houses, any floorperiod may be extended by convening earlier than its scheduled convening date or later adjournment after its scheduled ending date. Under this joint resolution, by majority action of the 2 houses or of the organization committees of the 2 houses, any floorperiod may be adjourned earlier than its scheduled ending date, except that the floorperiod that commences on May 31, 2005, is not authorized to be adjourned until the general fund executive budget bill has passed both houses.

Under Joint Rule 83 (2), during the periods of committee work preceding the last general–business floorperiod (the floorperiod that commences on April 25, 2006), bills, joint resolutions, resolutions, and amendments may be introduced.

The joint resolution creates a new Joint Rule 81r that permits the biennial session schedule to provide for a limited–business floorperiod after the last general–business floorperiod scheduled by the session schedule for the spring of the even-numbered year that is limited to action on bills introduced by the Joint Committee for Review of Administrative Rules (JCRAR) for the purpose of objecting to proposed administrative rules.

Under Joint Rule 83 (4), May 4, 2006, the last day of the last general–business floorperiod (the floorperiod that commences on April 25, 2006), is the day on which proposals die for the session, unless, under Joint Rule 81 (2), that floorperiod is extended and the proposals to be carried forward for consideration during the extension are specified. The joint resolution, however, creates a new Joint Rule 83 (4) (b) that provides that if a limited–floorperiod is included in the biennial session schedule for action on bills introduced by JCRAR, then any bills introduced by

JCRAR that are not yet agreed to by both houses are adversely disposed of for the biennial session at the conclusion of the limited-business floorperiod under Joint Rule 81r and are recorded as “failed to pass.”

Under Joint Rule 83 (5), no new proposals (except proposals pertaining to a veto review session or to any special or extraordinary session) may be introduced after May 4, 2006, the last day of the final general-business floorperiod.

The joint resolution also contains a schedule regarding adjournment, submission of bills to the governor, and veto review for special and extraordinary sessions and extends the deadline for the governor’s budget message to February 8, 2005.
